

Dear editor,

We would like to extend our sincere appreciation to the Editor and reviewers for their invaluable feedback, which has greatly contributed to the improvement of the manuscript's quality. We regret the substandard language used in our initial submission. The extensive revisions made to the manuscript, including the addition and removal of sentences and sections, have evidently resulted in compromised readability. To address this issue and further enhance the manuscript's logical coherence and overall quality, we have diligently worked on improving both language and readability. Additionally, we have sought the assistance of native English speakers for language corrections. We express our sincere aspiration that the coherence and linguistic proficiency have been significantly enhanced. The alterations highlighted in yellow signify the revisions made. We earnestly desire that our responses and modifications fulfill your expectations, thereby resulting in the approval of the manuscript for publication. Lastly, we reiterate our gratitude for the aforementioned remarks and recommendations.
