Quantitative data were analysed with SPSS Statistics (IBM, version 22) using chi-square tests to compare responses between the different participant groups. The qualitative data responses were collated and key themes were identified and described.