Re: Review of manuscript "Bifidobacterium infantis attenuates colitis by regulating T cell subsets responses"

Dear Peter

Thank you for asking me to review the article entitled "Bifidobacterium infantis attenuates colitis by regulating T cell subsets responses" after it has been concluded and written. We have been in discussion of the results of this excellent work for a long time, directly by email and during my visits to China or your visits to Dubai.

I would like to congratulate the team who were involved in this brilliant work, for their performance and achievements. The article is written in a clear simple language expressing an authentic work and complying with all the regulations set by reputed and well recognized medical journals.

As I have worked with you and your team on clinical application of Bifidus infantis in other fields of Gastroenterology and hepatology namely "H. pylori eradication published in SJG", "Diverticular disease and NAFLD being concluded and set for publication shortly", I know very well your commitment to ethical methodology, professional follow up, supervision and compliance with medical research guidelines and am sure that this article was subject to the same close scrutiny of your experts as well.

I would like to congratulate you again on this work that will definitely enrich the literature with valuable information that may change our attitude to, and provide additional support to the management of patients with colitis.

Best regards
