

Client: Dr. Masahiko Inamori

Manuscript: Effectiveness of therapeutic barium enema for diverticular hemorrhage

Journal: World Journal of Gastroenterology

Formatting Summary and Additional Instructions

Prepared: September 26, 2014

Congratulations—you're one step closer to submission!

This report summarizes the work that has been done to bring your manuscript into compliance with your targeted journal's formatting requirements, and it describes any further changes that you will need to make before submitting your manuscript to your specified journal. Please review this document and the marginal comments in your manuscript carefully. If you have any questions, please contact us at support@aje.com.

Title Page

Please complete your title page according to our comments in the manuscript prior to submission.

Abstract

The journal limits the sub-section "Aims" to 20 words or fewer. Currently, this sub-section contains 82 words. Please consider shortening it before submission.

Furthermore, the journal requests that the Aim be written in the form "To investigate/study...".

The journal requires the sub-section "Methods" to contain 140 or more words. Currently, this sub-section contains 131 words. Please consider expanding it before submission.

The journal requires the sub-section "Results" to contain 150 or more words. Currently, this sub-section contains 57 words. Please consider expanding it before submission.

The journal limits the sub-section "Conclusion" to 26 words or fewer. Currently, this sub-section contains 42 words. Please consider shortening it before submission.

Core Tip

Please provide a summary of less than 100 words that outlines the most innovative and important arguments and core contents of your article.

Typography

The font, line spacing, justification, page size, and margins have been adjusted to conform to the journal's requirements.

Citations and References

Your citations and reference list were corrected for spelling, author lists, journal abbreviations, and format according to the journal's specified style.

Please note that the citations and reference list have been re-numbered to accurately reflect the order in which the references are cited.

Figures and Figure Legends

Per the journal guidelines, the figure legends have been placed on a separate page at the end of the manuscript.

Per the journal guidelines, each figure should be submitted as a separate file, not embedded in the manuscript. If you would like assistance preparing figures, please contact support@aje.com to use our Figure Formatting service.

Tables

Per the journal guidelines, all the tables have been placed at the end of the manuscript, each on a separate page.

Disclosures and Ethics

Please note that the journal requires all studies involving humans to have received approval from an institutional review board and written informed consent from every patient. If these guidelines were followed, please indicate as much in the Materials and Methods section.

Please include the authors' contributions in your manuscript, where indicated, using the authors' initials, for example, "ABC designed the study and performed the experiments; DEF and GHI performed the experiments, analyzed the data, and wrote the manuscript."

Submission

Please submit your manuscript online at <http://www.wjgnet.com/esps/>.