

Conflict-of-Interest Statement

All of the authors report that they receive no financial compensation for DART. Ms Diekemper uses DART for assessing the quality of systematic reviews used to inform guideline recommendations for CHEST guidelines. Due to her role as a developer of DART, the tool has been adopted by CHEST for use in guideline development. Dr Ireland reports that as a consultant who frequently conducts systematic reviews and overviews of reviews, she is interested in an effective and efficient tool for evaluating the quality of systematic reviews. Dr Merz has no conflicts of interest to disclose.
