

The Status of Hepatitis C Virus Vaccination: Recent Update

Kouka S. Abdelwahab and Zeinab N. Said

Faculty of Medicine (for Girls)-Al-Azhar University

Cairo- Egypt

Kouka Saad eldin Abdelwahab and Zeinab Nabil Ahmed Said

Department of Microbiology and Immunology, Faculty of Medicine (for girls) –Al-Azhar University, Cairo-Egypt

RUNNING TITLE: Hepatitis C virus vaccines update

Author contributions: Kouka S. Abdelwahab and Zeinab Nabil Ahmed Said contributed equally to this review.

Correspondence to Zeinab Nabil Ahmed Said, Professor in Microbiology & Immunology Department, Faculty of Medicine (for girls), Al-Azhar University, Nasr City, 8, Ossama Ibn Monkez Street, Heliopolis, Cairo, Egypt znabil58@yahoo.com

Tel: 100 2 0106602418 Fax: NA

CONFLICT OF INTEREST STATEMENT:

The authors declare no conflict of interest.

Statement: We searched PubMed(www.pubmed.gov), EuroMed, WHO global epidemics and Egyptian National Academy of science and Technologies for all articles containing the term “HCV” or “hepatitis C virus” or HCV genotypes or “HCV subtypes” or “HCV vaccines” published between 1989 -2015. A complete reference list is provided.