Comments from reviewer 1:

I am very surprised for the methodology and clarity of the manuscript. Very well written. In the abstract section last line there is a typing error.

- Revised accordingly

Comments from reviewer 2:

The author had declared some of the limitation in which may affects the generalizability of this study, such as the differences in demographic and lifestyle characteristics between those included and those exclude for the analysis; and vegetables intake of those participants in their study groups. It is also an interesting prospective cohort study which may accept for publication. I have no further comment on this manuscript.
