To whom it may concern:

I declare that before submission for publication in World Journal of Gastroenterology, the manuscript "Hepatitis C virus relies on lipoproteins for its life cycle" by Germana Grassi and collaborators, has been edited for English language usage, grammar, spelling and punctuation by myself, as a native English-speaking researcher at the National Institute of Infectious Diseases L. Spallanzani IRCCS. I also declare that every effort has been made to ensure that neither the research content nor the authors' intentions were altered during the editing process.
