

The manuscript is well written and properly conducted, but the "materials and methods" is not well described for easy comprehension. A brief description of the study methodology is needed. I also have the following comments: 1. In the abstract: EGFR is abbreviated. Full wording is needed. also, what is "drup"? 2. In 2.3: No need to mention the name of the person who synthesized the nanoparticles especially in presence of a reference. 3. Page 16: What is meant by "preclinical ascite"?

Answer: Thank you for the comments on the paper. We have revised the manuscript as suggested .

1. EGFR full wording is written.
2. "drup" is a wrong word, it should be "drug"
- 2.3 The name of the person who synthesized the nanoparticles is replaced by reserchers.
3. Page 16: What is meant by "preclinical ascite" is wrongly described, and deleted.
