Language Evaluation

Dear Editor,

Thank you very much for the first decision on our manuscript entitled “Estrogen receptors in gastric cancer: Advances and perspectives” (Manuscript No. 22893).

Regarding the comments for language evaluation from the two reviewers, one is Grade A ( priority publishing) and another is Grade B (minor language polishing), we have checked our manuscript carefully for grammatical clarity and inappropriate vocabulary, and made revisions as highlighted in the revised manuscript with the help of a native speaker of English (Adeeba Mahmood, Citizenship: British, email: fiasalcn@hotmail.com, we have acknowledged this in the revised manuscript) . One of the authors (Muhammad Saif Ur Rahman) is from Pakistan where English is an official language and he has completed all his education (PhD continue) in English. We wish the current revised manuscript will meet the language requirement of WJG.

Sincerely yours,

Jiang Cao
