

The present study is a prospective epidemiological study investigating the factors which affect breastfeeding duration in Greece. It has not involved any health-related intervention to any study participant. Hence, a clinical trial registration was not applicable.

P. Kostarakos
3/5/16