Answers:

1. Abstract included
2. Aim of the research included in the introduction
3. Abbreviations have been checked.
4. Special section "Prevention of postoperative AKI" included
5. HEMODYNAMIC INSTABILITY AND RENAL HYPOPERFUSION and INCREASED SUSCEPTIBILITY TO RENAL HYPOPERFUSION included in one section.
6. A graph representing the interrelationships between the cause of AKI and method of prevention included.

COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

1) The authors summarized that risk factors of AKI were closely correlated with the hemodynamic instability , red blood cell transfusion , increasing susceptibility to renal hypoperfusion and posthepatectomy liver failure during the partial hepatectomy. It is very important guidance to surgeons who engaged in hepatobiliary surgery. 2) I suggest that the manuscript can be published in the form of minireviews in World J Hepatology.
