

Data were analyzed by ANOVA followed by Tukey test for specific comparisons between means. A p value <0.05 was regarded as statistically significant.