NOTES:
CIHR requires that its contribution to your research project be acknowledged in all written and oral presentations of your research results, including scientific articles, news releases, news conferences, public lectures and media interviews. Please see CIHR's Guidelines on Public Communication which are enclosed for more information on public communication and acknowledgement requirements.
You received this funding because your colleagues volunteered their time to assist CIHR with the review of your application. We ask that, as a recipient of CIHR funding, you will participate in CIHR peer review activities if invited.
By drawing on the funds provided through this grant/award you agree to the terms and conditions set out in the attached "Conditions of Funding", any breach of which may result in CIHR taking remedial action as described therein.
