

Dear Doctors,

Please find attached your revised manuscript entitled, "Targeting Cannabinoid Signaling for Peritoneal Dialysis-induced Oxidative Stress and Fibrosis", Manuscript ID NOV1509-11.

To see the changes that I made in the attached document, in Microsoft Word, kindly click on "Tools", then on "Track Changes" and you may also need to click on either "Final Showing Markup" or "Original Showing Markup". You may find it easier to view changes or comments in "Print Layout" view or in "Normal" view. In "Normal" view it is easier to see the words I have deleted.

Please review corrections made. When you go over the changes I have suggested, you may accept or reject them with the "right-click" computer mouse function.

There are also comments throughout the document, and these are highlighted in yellow. When the mouse goes over the highlights, the comment will be visible. You can also view the comments at the bottom of the Word screen by clicking on "View", then on "Comments". To delete a comment, place the mouse over the highlight and right-click the mouse. In the dialogue box which will appear, click "Delete Comment".

In addition to the corrections and comments, please check that the revisions have not altered the original meaning of any key sentences.

These comments are made for your consideration. It is entirely your prerogative to act on them or not. More substantive comments will be made by peer reviewers of the journals to which you will submit this paper.

When editing a paper I look at a number of issues:

Firstly, I check the key words and research the topic.
Secondly I read through the paper to get a general understanding.
Thirdly, I will look at spelling, typos, grammar and word choice.
Fourthly, I look for sections of the paper, which are unclear to the reader and perhaps should be revised by the author.
Then, I look at the logical structure of the paper, readability and flow of the paper.

As part of the service we offer, we ask you to complete the attached editing evaluation form and email it to editing@asiatrainingssolutions.com. Your comments will help us to continue to provide you with the best editing service possible.

Please also find attached an editing certificate as requested.

If there is a specific concern that you have about the paper, or if you have any comments or questions, please feel free to e-mail me at malcolm@asiatrainingssolutions.com.

I sincerely wish you well on your submission, Doctor.

Kind regards,
