

Informed consent statement: This is a retrospective study using de-identified clinical data that was obtained after approval from the institution's IRB. Since all information was anonymous and does not impact patients in any way, no patient consent was required.