Biostatistics statement

Statistical analyses were performed by statistical experts from Biostatech, a university spin-off in Biostatistics.

Differences between experimental groups were compared using the non-parametric Mann-Whitney U test due to the data were non-normally distributed or the variances were not homogenous. A p value less than 0.05 was considered to be statistically significant. The statistical significance is indicated as follows: ^ap<0.05 and ^bp<0.01.
