

This is a case report with medical records review retrospectively. All the contents and imagings in this manuscript did not show identifiable private data of the patient. Therefore, informed consent is not needed.