Snapping elbow - a guide to diagnosis and treatment.

By mail of 2017-12-06 you have requested whether above research project must be notified to the Danish Committee System on Health Research Ethics.

As defined by the “Danish Act on Research Ethics Review of Health Research Projects” Section 2 the project does not constitute a health research project, but is considered a register research project.

In Denmark it is the responsibility of the committee system to evaluate health research projects being defined as: clinical trials involving live born human individuals, human gametes intended for fertilization, fertilized human eggs, embryonic cells and embryos, tissue, cells and genetic material from humans, embryos etc. or deceased persons, as well as clinical trials of medicines in humans, and clinical trials of medical devices.

Register research projects and questionnaire-based surveys are to be notified only if human biological material is included in the project. In case of interview based surveys similar regulations apply.

As a matter of form, our rejection to evaluate your project does neither constitute an ethical nor a negative evaluation of the content of the project.

For additional inquiries, please contact the Secretariat for the Committees of the Capital Region at +45 38666395 or by e-mail: vek@regionh.dk.

Complaints procedure

Any decision concerning approval and rejection from the regional committee may be brought before the National Committee on Health Research Ethics no later than 30 days from receipt of the decision from the regional committee, cf. section 26(1) of the Committee Act

The complaint must be submitted electronically with the use of digital signature and encryption in case of confidential protocol content (confidentialities). The complaint must be justified and copy of the decision from the regional committee must be enclosed as well as the case files used for the decision.
