Dear Editors,

Thank you very much for the positive evaluation of my review article. The suggestion of the reviewer that to make a table to compare NPP7 in liver with other organs is understandable but currently not available, because previous studies only found NPP7 expression in the intestine and additionally in human liver. No activity and enzyme protein has been found in other organs in rats. This has been described more clearly in the manuscript at page 3, line 6.

With best regards,
