

Our study mined the TCGA database and doesn't involve any experiments with animals or human beings. Because the TCGA data are a community resource project, additional ethical approval was not acquired, and the present study adhered to the TCGA publication guidelines and data access policies.