

Although I am not a native English speaker, I have studied in the United States (Harvard School of Public Health, Boston, MA) and published more than 60 manuscripts (see pubmed and list of publications). However, a native English American speaker checked the grammar and syntax and polished further the language of the manuscript.