Palliative Care in Acute Kidney Injury Patients in the Intensive Care Unit

Vinod Krishnappa, William Hein, Daniel DelloStritto, Mona Gupta, Rupesh Raina

Abstract

Patients with acute kidney injury (AKI) in the intensive care unit (ICU) are often suitable for palliative care due to the high symptom burden. The role of palliative medicine in this patient population is not well defined and there is a lack of established guidelines to address this issue. Because of this, patients in the ICU with AKI deprived of most comprehensive or appropriate care. The reasons for this are multifactorial including lack of palliative care training among nephrologists. However, palliative care in these patients
