Severe combined immunodeficiency disorders are referred to by such name prior to using the shorthand SCID.

A summary of pathophysiology of SCID disorders was added to the manuscript. A more in-depth discussion of the pathophysiology would be beyond the scope of this manuscript.

GVHD and other therapy related complications are reviewed in the manuscript. Although there is limited data on this but the complex question of choice of donor is also reviewed in the manuscript. Additional information was added to the already present data as per the reviewer's request.

The manuscript reviews current literature of best times to proceed to transplant.

Immune reconstitution was already included in the manuscript but expanded as per the reviewer's comments.
