SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

Dear Author, The manuscript "Be Aware of Abnormal Serum CA19-9 Levels: A Case Report of Splenic Retiform Haemangioendothelioma Concomitant with Haepatic Amyloidosis" describes a rare and interesting condition that is well documented. The manuscript is written correctly and concisely and should be published in the WJG. I would have the following questions and suggestions for the authors: What is the findings of the upper and lower endoscopy? What is the serological status for other hepatotropic viruses (except HBV)? Literature data suggest that elevation of CA-19-9 may be caused by amyloidosis, and further explanation is needed. Secondary amyloidosis may be due to chronic infection, if it is ruled out in this case? With respect,
