

Experimental Clinical Oncology-Dept. Oncology
Aarhus University Hospital
Palle Juul-Jensens Boulevard 99, C108
DK-8200 Aarhus N
Denmark

February 4, 2020

The manuscript entitled "Severe steroid refractory gastritis induced by Nivolumab: A case report" was carefully read by Professor Michael R. Horsman.

Prof. Horsman is a British national, born and raised in London, England, where he received his general school education. He later moved to Oxford to study for his B.Sc. in Human Biology at Oxford Polytechnic (1974-1977), before moving to Sutton, Surrey, to obtain his Ph.D. in Radiation Biology at the Institute of Cancer Research (1977-1980). In 1981, he began working as a Research Associate at Stanford University, California, USA, before moving to Aarhus, Denmark (1987) where he currently works. He has written and published almost 300 original scientific papers, review articles, and book chapters in various English language scientific Journals.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, reading 'M. R. Horsman'. The signature is fluid and cursive, with a horizontal line drawn underneath it.

Michael R. Horsman
Professor of Experimental Radiotherapy
Experimental Clinical Oncology-Dept. Oncology
Aarhus University Hospital