

Informed consent statement:

This was an observational, retrospective study based on review of a database, and all personal health information was concealed. Hence, no patients were directly contacted for the study and informed consent was unnecessary.