

To whom it may concern

Having read and revised the minireview Manuscript NO: 62984 with the running title “Direct-acting antiviral agents (DAAs) in HCV related liver disease: don’t count the chickens before they’re hatched” I, Carole Greenall, hereby certify to the best of my ability that the manuscript is acceptably sound from the morphosyntactic and lexical points of view.

I am an English native speaker with extensive experience in revising medical texts for publication in international journals and a member of the Chartered Institute of Linguists.
