

I revised my manuscript entitled " Orosomucoid in liver diseases " (Manuscript ID: 65779) according to the comments of the referees. The revised form of the manuscript and English re-revision certificate are uploaded. Following changes have been made related to the comments of the reviewers :

Referee 1:

1. According to the comment, I included the statements (in the last paragraph of the ORM IN LIVER TUMOR section) " It should be noted that since none of the three current guidelines on the management of HCC include the use of ORM in diagnosis, further studies are needed before recommending its use as a diagnostic marker [53-55]. Moreover, these findings should also be supported by further studies in not only HCC but also CCC. Accordingly, three new references (refs no. 53,54, and 55) have been added.

Referee 2 :

1. An additional Table about the properties of ORM protein is requested. This is presented as Table 1, entitled "A brief overview of the general properties of ORM protein" and the statement "The general properties of ORM are summarized in Table 1" has been added at the end of the 3rd paragraph of the introduction section.
2. The language is re-revised by AJE, and the certificate is presented.
