Hi dear authors This is a useful study. I have some suggestions for improving your work.

1. in abstract, you must define abbreviation before first use of them, for example definition of AIs was missed in your abstract. 2. key words must be expanded with regard to CYP2D6. 3. Methods and results should be divided into subcategories for better understanding.

Response to Comments

Thank you for the review and the comments.

The abbreviations for CYP2D6 and AIs have been described in full in the Abstract.

CYP2D6 has been included in the keywords.

Subcategory headings have been added to the Methods and Results sections.

PMID and DOI have been included into the citations in the References section. However, I would like to highlight 2 points raised by the auto-check: i) incorrect DOI for reference 22. This has been checked and found to indeed be correct, ii) missing DOI for reference 23. The DOI is not available on Pubmed.

The above changes have been tracked in the revised manuscript.

Please do let me know if further corrections are needed.

Thank you.
