1	General Information of the Manuscript Name of journal: World Journal of Gastroenterology Manuscript NO.: 67059 Column: Review Title: Helicobacter pylori eradication: exploring its impacts on the gastric mucosa Authors: Bin Lv, Chun-Yan Weng, Jing-Li Xu, Shao-Peng Sun and Kai-Jie Wang Reviewer code: 04162659, 05224115, 04913316, and 02522871 First decision: 2021-06-03 19:23 Scientific Editor: Ya-Juan Ma Date of signature: July 14, 2021 (month/day/year)	[Y]
2	Editorial Office's Comments Science Editor: 1 Scientific quality: The review manuscript describes "Helicobacter pylori eradication: Exploring its impacts on the gastric mucosa". The topic is within the scope of the WJG. (1) Classification: Grade D, Grade C, Grade B, and Grade C; (2) Summary of the Peer-Review Report: (02522871): Despite the	[Y]

authors summarize the benefits associated with H. pylori eradication in a clear and coherent manner, I have some suggestions: In the discussion, the authors deal with the problem of H. pylori resistance to the common antibiotic therapy and cite the potential use of antimicrobial peptides as potential substitutes. Could the authors add more details about this and some information about the main novel treatments developed against H. pylori? The authors should extend the section introduction. (04913316): The manuscript is interesting, and well written and I recommend it be accepted for publication Minor changes Avoid terms such as elimination or depletion. Eradication is more appropriate. (05224115): I would like to make a few comments and suggestions. 1. The authors have touched on the endoscopic findings of the gastric mucosa in H. pylori infection. There are a few reported studies on the use of a novel endoscopic technique, endocytoscopy, in the assessment and evaluation of the gastric mucosa in H. pylori. I would recommend including these reports (One example: In vivo gastric mucosal histopathology using endocytoscopy. Sato H, et al. World J Gastroenterol) 2. Please have the manuscript rechecked by a native English speaker or a language-editing company, to make the English more consistent. For example, for Section 2.1, under the subsection "Changes of atrophy and intestinal metaplasia", the authors wrote "However, Kang JM et al founded AG was improved in corpus but not in antrum at same time.[41]" Please change "founded" to "found".

(04162659): Specific comments; 1. The manuscript should be reviewed and corrected for English language and grammar, especially due to the syntax errors throughout the manuscript. 2. H. pylori in not italicized at least in one place (second last line on page 6). 3. On page 9, please explain: "However, although community structure can also be partly restored upon. H. pylori elimination, whether the post-eradication and negative control groups still markedly differ remains highly controversial." 4. The section on gastric microbiota is not connected to the rest of the article. This section can be deleted as it does not add to the rest of the manuscript the way it is written. 5. The manuscript should include additional studies from different regions of the world. 6. The flow of the manuscript needs to be improved as in places it reads like information has been put in for various aspects without making proper connections; (3) Format: There are 3 tables and 2 figures; (4) References: A total of 153 references are cited, including 55 references published in the last 3 years; (5) Self-cited references: There are 2 self-cited references;(6) References recommendations: The authors have cited proper references. 2.Language evaluation: Classification: Grade C, Grade B, Grade B, and Grade A. 3 Academic norms and rules: The authors provided the Non-Native Speakers of English Editing Certificate. 4 Supplementary comments: This study was financially supported by the National Natural Science Foundation of China (grant no. 722211A00352). The authors declare no conflict of interest. The topic has not previously been

	published in the WJG. 5 Issues raised: (1)The “Author Contributions” section is not detailed. Please provide the author contributions; (2) The “Article Highlights” section is missing. Please add the “Article Highlights” section at the end of the main text. 6.Re-Review: Required 7 Recommendation: Conditional acceptance Company Editor-in-Chief: I have reviewed the Peer-Review Report, full text of the manuscript, and the relevant ethics documents, all of which have met the basic publishing requirements of the World Journal of Gastroenterology, and the manuscript is conditionally accepted. I have sent the manuscript to the author(s) for its revision according to the Peer-Review Report, Editorial Office’s comments and the Criteria for Manuscript Revision by Authors.

	Non-structured abstract that is no less than 150 words. Research articles: Structured abstract with subsections for AIM (no more than 20 words); METHODS (no less than 80 words); RESULTS (no less than 120 words); and CONCLUSION (no more than 26 words).
12	The 'Key words' list provides 5-10 keywords that reflect the main content of the study. The first letter of each keyword is capitalized, and each keyword is separated by a semicolon.	[Y]
13	The "citation" contains authors' names and manuscript title. The name of the first author should be typed in bold letters; the family (sur) name of all authors should be typed with the first letter capitalized, followed by their abbreviated first and middle initials. For example, an article by Jae Moon Yoon, Ki Young Son, Chun Sick Eom, Daniel Durrance, Sang Min Park will be written as Yoon JM, Son KY, Eom CS, Durrance D, Park SM. Pre-existing diabetes mellitus increases the risk of gastric cancer: A meta-analysis. World J Gastroenterol 2019; In press	[Y]
14	The 'Core tip' provides a summary (less than 100 words) of the study that outlines the most innovative and important arguments and core contents of the paper and will serve to effectively attract readers.	[Y]
15	The 'INTRODUCTION' section clearly describes the relevant background information for the study. Only the most relevant and current (within the past 5 years) literature is cited, with the exception of rare instances of seminal literature citations. All technical terms and/or abbreviations are explained and/or defined, with the full name of abbreviations given upon first appearance in the text and the abbreviation presented in parentheses [ i.e. , "...computed tomography (CT)"]. First-person pronouns ( e.g. , 'I', 'we') are used appropriately to clearly indicate the work performed	[Y]

	by the author(s). When weaknesses of previous studies are described in the text to highlight the innovations related to the current study, the information is presented carefully.
16	The 'MATERIALS AND METHODS' section clearly and accurately describes all materials and methods used to obtain the data presented in the article and is adequate for a reader to repeat the study.	[N]
17	The 'RESULTS' section concisely describes the observational and experimental results. Representative data and data that have scientific significance are emphasized. Data is presented in either the text, a table or figure ( i.e. , chart, diagram, graph or image), but is not repeated among each. Information presented in the tables and figures clearly describes the trends, meaning, and inferences. Results described in textual form are accurate, concise and clear.	[N]
18	Statistical symbols are accurate. Statistical significance is expressed as <sup>a</sup> $P < 0.05$ , <sup>b</sup> $P < 0.01$ ( $P > 0.05$ usually does not need to be denoted). If there are other series of $P$ values, <sup>c</sup> $P < 0.05$ and <sup>d</sup> $P < 0.01$ are used, and a third series of $P$ values is expressed as <sup>e</sup> $P < 0.05$ and <sup>f</sup> $P < 0.01$ . Statistical data is expressed as mean $\pm$ SD or mean $\pm$ SE.	[Y]

19	The 'DISCUSSION' section (1) describes the main purpose and hypothesis of the study; (2) summarizes the most important results; (3) illustrates and explains the results (but does not simply repeat the data) and draws conclusions or inferences based on the results; (4) points out the limitations of the study and their impact on the results, as well as proposes further advice on future research topic(s) or direction(s); and (5) describes the theoretical significance and practical value of the findings.	[N]
20	The 'ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS' section expresses gratitude to any individuals or organizations for technical support ( i.e. , providing instrumentation, equipment or experimental materials, and/or assistance in experimental work), non-technical services ( i.e. , useful inspiration, suggestions, guidance, or review), and/or any other auxiliary work.	[Y]
21	The 'ARTICLE HIGHLIGHTS' section provides comments for original articles in accordance with the specified format.	[N]
22	The 'REFERENCES' section lists the references in the Vancouver style. This style uses Arabic numeral in-text citations based on the order of the first appearance of a source in the text. For citations where the author's name is indicated in the text, a superscript number should be placed following the name ( i.e. , "Pang et al "). For citations where no author is indicated, a superscript number should be placed at the end of the sentence. Respective examples are: "Ma <sup>[1]</sup> reported .....", "Pan et al <sup>[2-5]</sup> indicated ....." ; "PCR has a high sensitivity <sup>[6,9]</sup> ." No superscript numbers are used when the reference number is described in the text; for example, "The experimental method used has been described in reference [8]." The style of reference citations in tables is the same as that in the text ( e.g. , Pan et al <sup>[2-5]</sup> , please see reference [8]).	[Y]

23	Journal references have been verified to ensure that there are no duplicate references and that the PMID numbers are correct. For references not yet included in PubMed: the name of Chinese journals is spelled out using Chinese Pinyin, with the first letter of each word capitalized ( e.g. , Shijie Huaren Xiaohua Zazhi ); the name of journals in other languages are listed according to indexing information retrieved from Google. Book references are presented with all the information relevant to the electronic version.	[Y]
24	The number of cited references is appropriate for the article type, as follows: Commentary : no less than 50; Review : no less than 100; Article : no less than 30/26; Case Report and Letter to the Editor : no less than 1.	[Y]

26	The names of the peer reviewers and the scientific editor are present at the end of the paper ( e.g. , P-Reviewer: Hugot D S-Editor: Wang JL).	[Y]
27	The order and numerical labeling of tables and figures is consistent with their appearance and presentation in the text. Symbols in tables ( e.g. , +, -, ×, ÷, *) correctly correspond to the definitions in the footnotes. Only one legend is provided for each multi-panel figure consisting of color graphs, black and white graphs, or line graphs that depicts data of the same theme. For example: Figure 1 Pathological changes in atrophic gastritis tissue before and after treatment. A: ...; B: ...; C: ...; D: ...; E: ...; F: ....	[Y]
