Endometriosis-related fibrosis often manifests as pelvic adhesions, and it is almost always observed microscopically when examining the endometriotic lesions. Here we are reporting, for the first time in literature, an unusual gross appearance of a serous ovarian cyst that coexisted with endometriosis.

Oct 01, 2017 · By Dr. Geoffrey Sher on 1st October 2017. Advanced endometriosis is often associated with ovarian endometriotic cysts, known as endometriomas. The cysts contain decomposed menstrual blood that looks like melted chocolate – hence the name “chocolate cysts”. They are space occupying cystic lesions within the ovarian connective tissue (stroma/theca) and if sizable (>1cm) often will ...
