

The statistical methods for the data-base study Clostridioides difficile Infection in Patients with Liver Cirrhosis in the USA: Population-based Study has been reviewed and analyzed by two independent reviewers. It involved a database study using Explorys with SNOMED coding. The signed personnel analyzed the methods and results. The graphs have been checked to correctness. Relevant suggestions have been made, and corrected versions have been approved.

Dated: May, 2021.

Dr. Qamar (MD, MPH)

Mayo Hospital Lahore, Paksitan.

FQAMAR