

This work has been edited and reviewed for its language proficiency by one of our authors, Yugo Matsui, who is fluent in the English language. He has received his education in English since elementary school, and has graduated from the University of British Columbia. He has published articles in English, and has experience in language editing of academic papers.