

Certificate of proofreading

This certificate confirms that the following manuscript was proofread and edited by English-language scientific editing staff at Calyptic. The document was edited for proper sentence structure, grammar, spelling, and punctuation. If there are any queries regarding the proofreading, feel free to contact us.

All changes were tracked in the document. After editing, the authors had the option to accept or reject the edits and suggestions made during our editing process and before submission to the journal.

Manuscript: Letter to the editor on some aspects and data on metformin and CRC

Client: Dick Wågsäter

Date issued: January 31, 2022

Linnéa Holmén (proprietor)

Calyptic is a firm specialized in editing of scientific manuscripts for English language journals and other scientific texts, such as dissertations and interview guides. All work is performed by a scientific editor with an M.Sc. and native proficiency in English.