

Institutional review board statement: Since this article is a molecular mechanism study of network pharmacology and does not involve animal experiments and clinical experiments, it does not require the approval of the ethics committee.