

Reviewer #1.

Thank you very much for your comments about “good summary on the current knowledge---“.

Minor comments:

1. The expression of ACE2 in liver cells has been described and discussed according to evidences available in Human Protein Atlas.
2. Yes, the rates of hepatic complications associated to COVID-19 are distinct and somewhat lower than those reported in SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV. A new table (Table 2) has been given of the hepatic complications in the three viral illnesses.

Reviewer #2.

Thank you for your valuable suggestions and extensive correction of English mistakes. We have incorporated all changes suggested by you. Moreover, following is the list of point-by-point replies to your valuable comments.

1. All English grammar and syntax errors have been corrected as per your kind guidance. Thank you very much for your kind help.
2. All typing mistakes pointed out and corrected by you have been rectified. Thank you very much for your kind help.
3. We have checked all the abbreviations and spelled out all those abbreviations likely to be repeated three times according to your guidance.
4. We have included the database search engines, key words, duration and other relevant points under Methods section.
5. We have included three figures according to your kind suggestion.
6. Table legends of both Tables 1 and 2 have been improved. All abbreviations in Table 1 have been fully spelled out and in Table 2, all are spelled out fully in Footnote.
7. Limitations and future directions have been included under separate subheadings before conclusion.
8. References have been corrected.

Reviewer #3.

Major points:

1. We have re-edited significant parts of the manuscript in the light of your comments.
2. English language is resubmitted with official stamp of the Institute and a native English speaking employee of our Institute. Moreover, we benefited a lot from English corrections of reviewer #2.

Minor points:

Hajifathalian and colleagues have been corrected as advised. Similarly, Aldhaleei and coworkers has also been corrected.

Science Editor.

Language quality: It has been improved and a new certificate is also provided.

Science quality: Good. Thank you for this comment.

Company editor:

Thank you very much for your kind gesture of provisionally accepting this article for WJV. We have added further the cutting-edge research highlights throughout the text according to RCA database. Four new references have been added and highlighted.