

Biostatistics statement

Date: 14 Oct 2022

Title: The global burden of upper and lower gastrointestinal bleeding in general population: A systematic review

This project is a systematic review which is based on data extracted from the publications that meet the inclusion and exclusion criteria of our review and does not involve any primary analyses or meta-analyses of the data. I, as an epidemiologist trained in statistics, have supervised this project including reporting and summarizing the extracted data and statistics.

Paveen Vora, PhD

Senior Epidemiologist,

Bayer AG