

Institutional review board approval

A retrospective review of a nationwide readmission database (NRD) was conducted to analyze hospitalization patterns of patients receiving IPCT during the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. As the NRD data is anonymous and cannot be used to identify patients, institutional review board approval was not required for this study.