

The study was performed on de-identified, anonymous, archived once-thawed clinical plasma samples. Hence, the requirement for individual patient consent forms was waived off by Institutional Ethical Committee.

