Title: Cohort study to assess geographical variation in cholangiocarcinoma treatment in England

This work uses data that has been provided by patients and collected by the NHS as part of their care and support. The data are collated, maintained and quality assured by the National Disease Registration Service (NDRS), which is part of NHS England.

The data used in this study are collated by the National Disease Registration Service, which is part of NHS England and has a special legal instruction to collect patient data without needing informed consent. This instruction is granted under section 254 of the Health and Social Care Act 2012.

Consent for this study was given by the NDRS Project Proposal Panel in NHS England.

Sincerely,
