

I would like to reiterate and confirm that:

- (1). Our research does not involve any animal experiments.
- (2). It does not include any clinical data or involve human subjects.
- (3). It does not require any special ethical clearance as per the guidelines of our institution.

As stated earlier, our manuscript solely utilizes publicly available data for analysis. This study, which involves the analysis of data not requiring further ethical approval, does not necessitate additional ethical support from our institution. We ensure that the research work is original, and no part of it infringes upon the rights of others. Therefore, we agree that our study does not require any special ethical clearance or support beyond what has already been provided. We appreciate your understanding and the journal's thorough review of these important considerations.
