

The SEER database is a multi-center and multi-population registry funded by the National Cancer Institute that is not subject to medical ethics review and does not require informed consent.