

Exemption of the application for informed consent

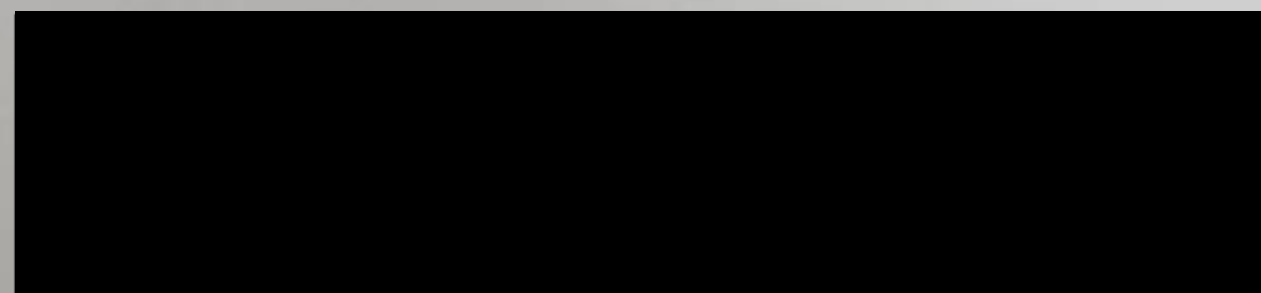

IRB of the First People's Hospital of Lianyungang:

I initiated an observational and retrospective study: Analysis of Risk Factors of Suicidal Ideation in Adolescent Depression Patients and Construction of Prediction Model.

The target population to be included in the study is the adolescent depression patients. The patient's medical history information needs to be used. The researchers have de identified all information, all publicly available research records and reports do not contain personal information about the patients and the research project does not involve personal privacy or commercial interests.

This study meets the conditions for exemption from informed consent. Therefore, I am applying to the Ethics Committee for exemption from informed consent of patients. Please review and approve by the Ethics Committee!

Researcher's signature:

A large black rectangular box redacting the researcher's signature.