SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

This manuscript is an editorial article that focused on the importance of paying more attention to post-endoscopic submucosal dissection (ESD) gastric cancer recurrence in patients with early gastric cancer (EGC) and how to manage it effectively. The authors mentioned that we should pay attention not only to the local recurrence after ESD but also metachronous GC recurrence. In addition, the authors raised challenges we should cope with. This is a well-written paper that presents informative data. The results will be of interest to clinicians and researchers in the field.
