

Answer to reviewer #1

Reviewer #1:

This paper investigates the relationship between inflammation and mental health. Before the paper is published, the following changes need to be made. First, the paper lacks key information, such as the title, abstract, and core tip. The authors need to add this information before considering further publication. Second, as an editorial, the authors focus more on introducing knowledge, but there is less discussion that would provoke readers' thinking. The authors should further provoke readers' thinking about this issue and generate discussion in the conclusion.

We appreciate your review and comments on our manuscript. Firstly, we have corrected the error we had at the time of uploading the manuscript to the system, so all the missing information has been corrected and you can find it attached in the new version of the manuscript. Secondly, we have made a correction to the conclusion to facilitate discussion, which are marked in the new version of the manuscript.