Response to review

Manuscript number 27936, "Catatonia: our current understanding of its diagnosis, treatment, and pathophysiology"

To whom it may concern,

Thank you to the reviewers who read this manuscript. The concerns raised by the reviewers and editor have been addressed as follows:

1. On page 9, "DSM-V" has been changed to "DSM-5"
2. On page 9, the word "of" has been inserted into the sentence "the presence of other catatonic signs"
3. The funding provided by the Ontario Mental Health Foundation was not a project grant, but rather a studentship awarded to Sean Rasmussen. As such, the grant application forms do not directly apply to this project. Since money was not awarded specifically for this project, I suspect this may not be of interest to readers, so we have removed the reference to funding support from the Ontario Mental Health Foundation. However, if you would like to see this information included along with award letters, we are happy to provide them.
4. On page 1, we have added the manuscript type and journal name.

All of the above changes have been highlighted in the revised manuscript. We appreciate the time taken to review and edit this manuscript. Thank you again for inviting us to submit this paper to the World Journal of Psychiatry.

Sincerely,

Sean Rasmussen, Patricia Rosebush, Michael Mazurek
