Serum cholinesterase: a predictive biomarker of hepatic reserves in chronic hepatitis D

I have revised the manuscript according to to the reviewers' suggestions
I have written a background sentence about severe nature of chronic hepatitis D in the 'Introduction' section. I feel that mentioning details about treatment is out of scope of this article. Number of patients have been mentioned in the 'Methods' section as well. I have merged figure 1 and 2. It is practically impossible to merge table 2 and 4 as they address two different aspects of statistical analysis
