

The study of early complications of laparoscopic sleeve gastrectomy in diabetic vs non-diabetic patients was exempt of signed informed consent according to the local Institutional Review Board Approval due to its' retrospective nature.