

Dr. Cyril Sobolewski, Ph.D

Research Associate

Direct phone: 0041 (0)22 379 54 21

cyril.sobolewski@unige.ch

Baishideng Publishing Group Inc

World Journal of Gastrointestinal Oncology

Geneva, November 5th, 2018

Subject: Non-Native Speakers of English Editing Certificate

Dear Editors,

I am writing you concerning our submission to World Journal of Gastrointestinal Oncology (Review, invitation ID 04428437). The journal requires a certificate of language editing for non-native English speaker. We did not provide this certificate because one of the authors, Pr. Dan A. Dixon is a native English speaker (from USA). Accordingly, this author carefully verified and approved the language quality of the manuscript. I also received an email from Pr. Xiang Li (assistant editor), who confirmed me that we don't need to provide this certificate. I asked Pr. Dan Dixon to provide me with a letter attesting that the language quality of the manuscript meets the requirement of the journal (see letter from Pr. Dan A. Dixon).

Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Dr. Cyril Sobolewski

THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS
CANCER CENTER

Dan A. Dixon, Ph.D.
Associate Professor
Department of Molecular Biosciences
Co-Leader, Cancer Prevention & Survivorship

November 5, 2018

This letter is to attest that Dan A. Dixon, Ph.D. who is a co-author on the manuscript AU-Rich Elements-Binding Proteins in Colorectal Cancer (World Journal of Gastrointestinal Oncology, #43345), was born and educated in the USA, and a native English speaker. The language quality of the manuscript meet the requirements of the journal and has reached a grade A.

Sincerely,

Dan A. Dixon, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Molecular Biosciences
Co-Leader Cancer Prevention & Survivorship Program
University of Kansas Cancer Center

